Supplementary Figures:

Figure S1. Anti-SARS-CoV-2 spike antibody (IgG) signal as a function of time for recovered individuals.

Figure S2. Anti-SARS-CoV-2 spike antibody (IgG) signal for individuals >20 days after first dose of Pfizer or Moderna as a function of individual age (left) and race (right). Participants identifying as Asian had a significantly higher antibody signal than those identifying as White. Regression of signal with age gives a significant downward trend with slope = -0.08 and $P < 0.001$.
