Materials and Methods

Studies and subjects

Patient data from three atezolizumab phase III clinical trials were included in this analysis: IMpower150, IMpower130, and IMpower131. Clinical trial results have been previously reported (15,17-18), and the clinical trial protocols have been provided as supplementary materials in the original study publications. Patients included in the present study signed an optional Research Biosample Repository (RBR) Informed Consent Form (ICF) and provided whole blood samples. By signing, patients provided informed consent for analysis of inherited and non-inherited genetic variation from whole blood samples. Ethics Committees (EC) and Institutional Review Boards (IRB) in each country and each study site for each clinical trial approved the clinical trial protocol, the main study ICF, and the RBR ICF. All EC and IRB forms are provided in the appendix to this supplementary document.

Whole Genome Sequencing, HLA and KIR inference

Genomic DNA was extracted from blood samples using the DNA Blood400 kit (Chemagic) and eluted in 50 µL Elution Buffer (EB, Qiagen). DNA was sheared (Covaris LE220) and sequencing libraries were prepared using the TruSeq Nano DNA HT kit (Illumina Inc.). Libraries were sequenced at Human Longevity (San Diego, CA, USA). 150bp paired-end whole-genome sequencing (WGS) data was generated to an average read depth of 30x using the HiSeq platform (Illumina X10, San Diego, CA, USA) and processed using the Burrows Wheeler Aligner (BWA)/Genome Analysis Toolkit (GATK) best practices pipeline (34). Short reads were mapped to hg38/GRCh38 (GCA_000001405.15), including alternate assemblies, using an alt-aware version of BWA to generate BAM files (35). All sequencing data was checked for concordance with data from a SNP Trace Panel (96 markers; Fluidigm, South San Francisco, CA, USA) generated before sequencing. ADMIXTURE v1.23 was used to estimate ancestry in the 5 major populations using supervised mode (36). Only samples with >0.8 European (EUR) ancestry were included in our analyses. Genetic principal component analysis (PCA) was performed using the ProPCA algorithm (37).

We used HLA-HD to infer HLA alleles from whole-genome sequencing data at 3-field resolution (38). KIR genotyping was performed with KPI v1.0.1 (39), starting from BAM files generated as described above. The MiDAS package v1.1.0 for R was used to infer KIR-HLA combinations from the HLA allele and KIR presence/absence calls, HLA class I supertypes, as well as for analyses of HLA heterozygosity and evolutionary divergence (40).

IMpower150 RNA-sequencing data

Formalin-fixed paraffin-embedded tissue (FFPET) was macro-dissected for the tumor area. RNA was extracted using the High Pure FFPET RNA Isolation Kit (Roche) and assessed by Qubit and Agilent Bioanalyzer for quantity and quality. First strand cDNA synthesis was performed from total RNA using random primers, followed by the generation of second strand cDNA with dUTP in place of dTTP in the master mix to facilitate preservation of strand information. Libraries were enriched for the mRNA fraction by positive selection using a cocktail of biotinylated oligos corresponding to coding regions of the genome. Libraries were sequenced using Illumina HiSeq.

TruSeq technology (Illumina) was used to generate whole-transcriptome profiles. To remove ribosomal reads, RNA-seq reads were first aligned to ribosomal RNA sequences. GSNAP version 2013-10-10 was used to align the remaining reads to the human reference genome (NCBI Build 38), allowing a maximum of two mismatches per 75 base sequences (parameters: '-M 2 -n 10 -B 2 -i 1 -N 1 -w 200000 -E 1-pairmax-rna = 200000 -clip-overlap'). To quantify gene expression levels, the number of reads mapped to the exons of each RefSeq gene was calculated using the functionality provided by the R/Bioconductor package GenomicAlignments.

An NK infiltration score was implemented as described by Cursons et al. (4). In short, a gene set was derived that signaled abundance of NK cells. The original list of candidate genes was taken from previously-published human and mouse expression profiles. This candidate list was filtered based on solid tumor expression levels from several other previously-published studies. The resulting set of 20 genes (CD160, CD244, CTSW, FASLG, GZMA, GZMB, GZMH, IL18RAP, IL2RB, KIR2DL4, KLRB1, KLRC3, KLRD1, KLRF1, KLRK1, NCR1, NKG7, PRF1, XCL1, XCL2) was used with the singscore rank-based algorithm to estimate NK cell infiltration (33).

Statistical analysis

Cox proportional hazards models were used to test for association of all tested genetic variables (HLA alleles, HLA ligand groups, KIR genes, KIR-HLA combinations) and the NK cell score with overall survival. Due to the complex linkage disequilibrium among HLA ligand groups and KIR gene copy number, it is difficult to assume statistical independence. Thus, statistics for each genetic variable were derived from multivariable models incorporating all tested KIR/HLA interactions, HLA ligand groups, or KIR genes. Age, sex, ECOG performance status, and the first three genetic principal components (PCs) were included as covariates. For the replication cohort 1 from Chowell et al., we included age, gender and drug class as covariates, and for the MSK-IMPACT replication cohort age group and drug class (27). To assess pairwise differences between >2 survival curves, the "pairwise_survdiff" function from the R package survminer was applied, and resulting p-values are Benjamini-Hochberg adjusted.

For HLA allelic association analyses (2-field resolution and supertypes), a dominant inheritance model was chosen (carrier vs. non-carrier), and only alleles with a carrier frequency of >0.5% in each study were included in the analyses.

For the meta-analyses, the random-effects model method of the metagen function in the R package "meta" was used to calculate effect estimates, 95% confidence intervals, p-values, and between-study variance using the DerSimonian-Laird method. No significant heterogeneity between studies was identified for any of the performed meta-analyses.

The Bonferroni method was applied to correct P values for multiple testing, and P values are reported uncorrected, unless specified otherwise.

Linear regression was performed to understand the relationship between KIR/HLA combinations and the NK cell signature, using age, sex, ECOG performance status, and three PCs.

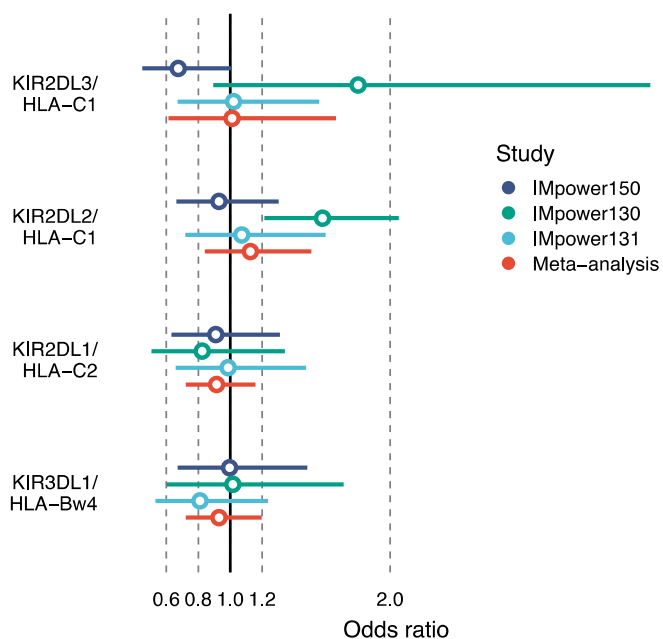

Fig. S1.

Association between KIR/HLA combinations and overall survival for patients with NSCLC in the control arms of IMpower150 (N=182), IMpower130 (N=102) and IMpower131 (N=156), as well as meta-analysis results (N=440). Horizontal lines depict 95% confidence intervals. The complete data are provided in Table S3.

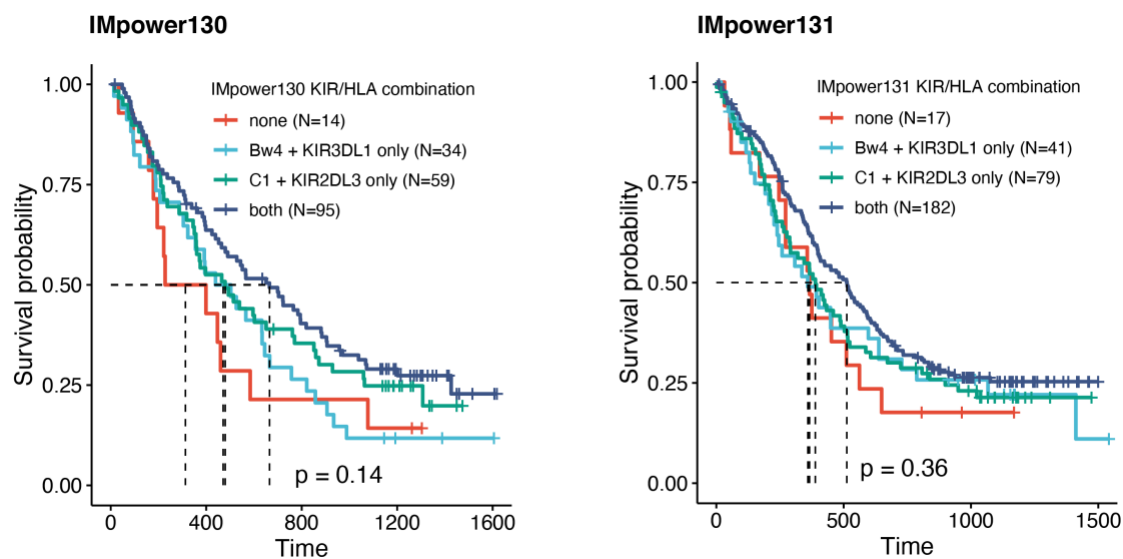

Fig. S2.

Kaplan-Meier estimates of overall survival in IMpower130 and IMpower131 for atezolizumab-treated patients carrying none of the two significant KIR/HLA interactions KIR3DL1-Bw4 and KIR2DL3/HLA-C1 (N=20), one of the two (N=81 and N=114, respectively), and both (N=218). Dashed lines depict median survival for each group. P-value is based on a log-rank test.

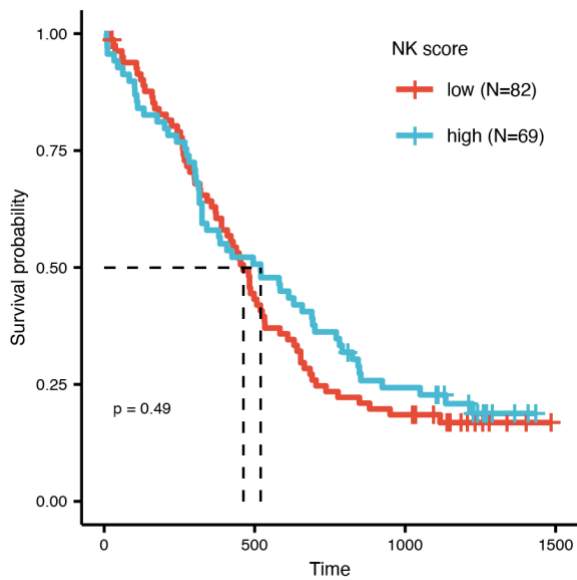

Fig. S3.

Kaplan-Meier estimates of overall survival for patients in IMpower150 control arms (no immunotherapy) with low (below median, N=82) and high (above median, N=69) NK cell score. Dashed lines depict median survival for each group. P-value is based on a log-rank test.
