4. Interpretation and details of the scales used to measure the psychosocial impacts of COVID-19 pandemic

Short Mood and feeling questionnaire (sMFQ) is a thirteen-item questionnaire derived from a 33 item Mood and Feeling questionnaire that is designed to assess depression symptoms in children and adults. Each item is rated on a 3-point scale i.e., 0 for not true, 1 for sometimes true and 2 for true and the total score ranges from 0 to 26. Score of 12 or higher may indicate the presence of depression.

The Warwick-Edinburgh Mental Well-being Scale (WEMWBS) is used to assess the mental wellbeing of the general population. It is a 14-item scale with 5 response categories based on 5-point Likert scale: 1 for “none of the time”, 2 for “rarely”, 3 for “some of the time”, 4 for “often” and 5 for “all of the time”. The overall response is calculated by adding the scores of each item, with scores ranging from 14 to 70 points and higher scores representing a higher level of mental wellbeing.

Generalised Anxiety Disorder Assessment (GAD-7) is a 7-item scale used for the screening of generalized anxiety disorders, rated on a four-point Likert scale: 0 for “not at all”, 1 for “less than half the days”, 2 for “more than half the days” and 4 for “nearly every day”. The sum score ranges from 0 to 21, with three cutoff points 5,10 and 15, and anxiety is classified as 0-4 (none/normal), 5-9 (mild), 10-14 (moderate) and 15-21 (severe).

The Perceived Stress Scale (PSS) is a 10-item stress assessment instrument, that measures the degree of perceived stress based upon situations faced. Each item is scored based on 5-point scale: 0 for “never”, 1 for “almost never”, 2 for “sometimes”, 3 for “fairly often” and 4 for “very often”. The total score can range from 0 to 40, which is further categorized as 0-13 (low stress), 14-36 (moderate stress) and 27-40 (high stress).

Changes in different aspects of everyday life, like eating, physical exercise, smoking and sleeping, were accessed by asking simple questions: “Thinking about life now, compared to the early months of lockdown (April and May 2020), have any of the following aspects of your life changed?” and options were given as “decreased a lot”, “decreased a little”, “stayed the same”, “increased a little” and “not applicable”. Similarly, the financial status was addressed by asking questions: a) “How well would you say you have been managing financially since March 2020 (since the pandemic)?” with options “doing alright”, “just about getting by”, “finding it quite difficult” and “finding it very difficult” b) “Thinking back to January or February 2020, how do you feel you are able to cope with day-to-day life now compared to then?” with options “much worse”, “a little worse”, “about the same”, “a little better” and “much better”.
